

ALBERTA'S LIQUOR PROFITS
TOTAL $2,661,048 ON YEARS
OPERATIONS—INCREASE OF
$623,000 OVER 1928

Edmonton, Feb. 4.—Exceeding by $823,000 the profits for the year 1928, the Alberta liquor control board, according to the annual report of the fiscal year ending March 31, 1929, released for publication Saturday morning by Attorney-General J. F. Lyndhurst, shows a total profit of $2,661,048 for its year's operations, on gross sales of $6,551,223.

The cost of goods sold amounted to $3,906,455.04, leaving a gross profit of $2,644,767.96. Store expenses amounted to $510,656.36 leaving a net profit from government liquor stores totaling $2,134,111.70. Special revenues including liquor permit fees, beer taxes, brought up the grand net profit to $2,661,048.47.

In Edmonton the main liquor store had a turnover during the year of $1,181,314.35 while the branch store revenue totaled $162,479.75. Net profit at the main store totaled $429,474.75 and at the branch store, a net profit of $48,887.52 was reported. Calgary the main liquor store grossed $1,485,153.98, while the east Calgary store had a turnover of $292,595.35. The main store showed a net profit on the year's operations of $554,214.03 while the East Calgary store showed a net profit of $98,545.51. In addition to the sales recorded over the counter, the Calgary office shipped $38,390.22 worth of liquor to other points. In Edmonton the mail order business was a trifle larger, $80,573.97 worth of liquor being shipped.

MacLeod Vendor's showed gross sales of $101,531.75 net profit of $31,465.16.

HON. P. C. LARKIN DIES IN ENGLAND—HIGH COMMISSIONER FAILS TO RECOVER FROM HEART ATTACK

London, Feb. 3.—Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian high commissioner at London, died early today. He had been suffering from heart trouble. Immediately on his return from the Hague conference Mr. Larkin retired to bed, seeking to recuperate. It was following a sudden heart attack that the end came today. His wife and daughter are in London.

The high commissioner, who was 73 years old, was appointed as the Canadian representative in 1922. He was widely known all over the western hemisphere because of his extensive business activities.

They are Claudette Colbert, stage star and leading woman, and Nelly Savage, well known dancer and player in half a dozen pictures. The role is that of Madame Mystra, the spiritualist medium. Miss Savage starts out as the real Madame Mystra and is killed in an accident. Then Miss Colbert appears in the plot, masquerading as the late medium.

Miss Colbert is brunet and of medium height and Miss Savage is blond and tall, yet when veiled and seated behind the mysterious crystal sphere, there is apparent a similarity in the outline of their features which shows why they were picked to play together.

They are also alike in being of foreign birth. Miss Colbert was born in Tehran, Persia, where her father, an Englishman, was manager of the Imperial Bank. Miss Savage was with the Ziegfeld Follies for six weeks, and she entered the pictures in "Enemies of Women."

WILL CONSIDER HOW TO MEASURE NAVAL POWER—IMPORTANT QUESTION IS PLACED IN HANDS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE—STUDY
TION MADE BY U. S. LEADER

London, Jan. 30.—(A.P.)—The entire question of how to measure naval power—whether by total tons, or by tons in separate categories—a problem which has vexed naval limitation negotiations for years, was put today in the hands of a special committee by the London naval conference.

This plan of treatment was adopted on the motion of Col. Henry Stimson, head of the United States delegation, at a full session of the conference permeated by a general willingness to compromise, but marked nevertheless by plain indications of national viewpoints. The proposal was accepted unanimously, although Italy gave notice that she felt her claim for parity with France should have had precedence.

When today's plenary session of the conference opened Italy struck a rather jarring note. Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, had on the agenda two items:

(1)—Determination of ratios.
(2)—Determination of levels of total tonnage of the several countries.

He opened with reservations. He submitted that while limitation either by global tonnage or by categories was a question of method, Italy proposed to raise questions of principle. The problem of the conference was essentially political, he argued. The limitation of armaments meant acceptance by the governments of restrictions to a fundamental right inherent to national sovereignty.

"Voluntary renunciation of freedom of action in the matter of armaments" he declared, "is a political act, a political act." A profitable debate on the methods of limiting naval armaments could not disregard these points: (1) on what basis of reciprocal and relative strength is each of us prepared to accept limitation of our right and freedom of action in the matter of armaments? (2) do we really intend to investigate reduction in armaments?

Signor Grandi had no objection to examination, in the meantime, on the question of methods of procedure, he significantly added: "I must, however, state that while the Italian delegation is prepared to take part in the discussions, it does not see its way to committing itself to any of the negotiations on method or on any special point of the disarmament problem."

BRITAIN CUTS OUT ANOTHER
TWO CRUISERS

London, Feb. 1.—It was authoritatively stated today the British government has deleted one big cruiser and one small cruiser from the 1929-1930 program which had originally called for three cruisers, one large and two small.

None of the orders for the 1929-1930 program has yet been placed. These deletions in addition to the cancellation of the cruisers Surrey and Northumberland from the 1928-29 program, make a total of three large and one small cruisers that will not be built.

Meets Dominion Delegates
London, Jan. 31.—As the delegates came together for today's session of the naval conference, reports were widespread that the British were having difficulty in satisfying the dominions as to their representation on the conference committee. The only explanation offered respecting a two-hour session Prime Minister MacDonald and the dominion delegates held during the morning was that they discussed procedure.

RATEPAYERS MEETING HEARS
REPORTS—FINANCIAL POSITION OF TOWN GOOD—RATE-PAYERS LAUD MAYOR AND

On Friday evening of last week the annual statutory meeting of the town of Macleod was held in the town hall. An invitation had been published notifying every person to come who wished to get any information with regard to the town or the administration of municipal affairs during the past year. Those who had adverse or constructive criticisms were asked to come forward and air their grievances in public.

The meeting was very well attended and was in congratulatory rather than a critical mood.

The mayor gave a brief resume of the work of the town for the past seven years and particularly for the past year. He drew attention to one or two criticisms which he had heard made, outside of council and status meetings, and dealt with these criticisms in such a way as to dissipate them entirely.

One question was asked about the apparent deficit in the operation of the waterworks department. This was explained by the mayor to be the method of bookkeeping that the auditors adopted in which they had included $15,000, the cost of changing the water mains during the year 1929 from wooden to steel construction, and showed that this amount had been charged to operation of the department, which apparently showed a deficit. All departments are audited so as to show the separate working of each one of them. The summary, however, showed the condition of the town to be in the best of health financially.

The fullest opportunity was offered by the mayor to any person to make any suggestions they could, so as to improve the administration of municipal affairs, but no suggestion of any kind was made. Mr. McDonald gave the highest praise to his fellow members of the council, for the loyal way in which they kept the interests of the town in view, when engaged in any administrative work for the town.

Ex-Mayor D. J. Grier in commenting on the reports presented, complimented the mayor and council on the remarkable condition of the town's finances, and said the council deserved great praise for the able manner in which they had handled town affairs during the past few years. He said he was one of the largest taxpayers and he appreciated the fact that his taxes had been reduced to nearly half during the past seven years. Others present also spoke in laudatory terms of the financial position of the town.

The annual meeting of the Macleod Public School District was held at the close of the town meeting when the financial reports were presented by the secretary-treasurer.

MONARCH SUFFERS LOSS OF
NUMBER BUSINESS PLACES
BY FIRE

The town of Monarch was thrown into a panic on Sunday morning when the main business block was partially destroyed by fire. A call was sent in to the Lethbridge Fire Hall at 1:10, and by the time the emergency truck arrived nothing could be done to save the buildings held prey to the flames.

According to information received, the post office, the old Bank of Commerce building and a grocery store were burned to the ground, at the close of the town meeting, the efforts of the firemen were directed in saving adjoining buildings. All mail and the safe containing valuable documents were removed from the post office without damage. Merchandise was removed from the general store, but the flames were brought under control before it did any damage to this building.

It is believed the fire commenced in Thos. Kenna's grocery store through a defective chimney and the flames, fanned by a strong west wind, spread rapidly to adjoining buildings. A bucket brigade was organized but their efforts proved futile and a call was sent in to Lethbridge. Fire Chief Hardy sent out the emergency truck with chemical and hose but as the post office, grocery store and the residence were too far gone, attention was centred on saving the other buildings. Some insurance was carried on the post office building. The fire chief estimated the damage at between $10,000 and $15,000.

MEETING OF LETHBRIDGE PRESBYTERY OF THE UNITED CHURCH

The Lethbridge Presbytery of the United Church of Canada met in Wesley United Church, Lethbridge, this week on Tuesday afternoon and evening and Wednesday morning until 1 p. m. Almost the complete Presbytery attended and the business was given the entire attention of all members until completed.

Among the delightful events of the Presbytery was the kindly Christian Spirit manifested in the earnest debate. Diametrically opposite views were often expressed and the spirit of cordiality not the least strained.

One hour of the Presbytery was occupied with the report of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of the church to the inspiration of all, and two hours to the Department of Social Service and Evangelism. Many happy examples of the working out of Union were reported and the best effort is being put forth to reach the place where the Lethbridge Presbytery will contribute to Missions an amount equal to the entire Missionary Expenditure in the Presbytery. The Lay delegates took an unusually active part in the discussions and made many proposals for the more effective fulfillment of the United Church programme.

The Presbytery adjourned to meet at the Conference at the call of the Chair. Mr. A. F. Grady will represent the Macleod Charge on the Layman's work of the Alberta Conference in May.

REGULAR MEETING TOWN
COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the Macleod Town Council was held on Monday evening, Mayor J. W. McDonald, K. C. presiding. The councillors present were: J. Swinerton, W. A. Day, C. W. Stevens, Alex. McLeod, W. O. Hoodless and C. E. Tweed.

Messrs. McLeod, Hoodless and Tweed, who were re-elected by acclamation earlier in the day, assumed their declarations of office and took their seats.

A considerable amount of business was transacted relating to Town lots and property. The Modern Tire and Supply Co. were given permission to remove the gas supply tank from in front of the K. A. Y. to the southern portion of the same block, the removal to be under the supervision of Mr. Sutherland. K. R. McKenzie having notified the Council that he had given up lot 14 north 17th Street W., and that motion of May 6th be rescinded.

That part of lot 28 north of 23rd Street W., known as the Metzger block be sold to J. Swinerton for $5,000.00. Taxes to start January 1st, 1930. That transfer of lots 15 and 16 north of 28th Street east to W. S. Hild and selling off balance being ratified. That lot 25 north of 9th Street W., be sold to Fred Scarba for $1,000, purchaser to pay costs of transfer.

The usual routine business of Council was transacted.

CHRIST CHURCH W. A. GAVE SUCCESSFUL CARD PARTY AND DANCE

The W. A. of Christ Church gave a most successful card party and dance in the Parish Hall on Friday evening. There was a large attendance, which shows how popular these parties of the W. A. are in Macleod.

They had 27 tables at cards, the full capacity of the Hall, quite a number were not able to take part in the cards, then a large number of the younger set went in later for the dance only.

Mrs. C. G. Hoult was the winner of the ladies' first prize and Mrs. D. J. Grier was awarded the consolation. Jim Smith took first for the men and M. Sarge the consolation.

After refreshments were served dancing was kept up for a couple of hours. The orchestra supplying the music were Mrs. Vise, violin; Ernie Charlton, piano; J. A. Edgar, banjo; and C. Edgar, drums—everyone being delighted with the music and the whole evening's entertainment.

Human nature is the same everywhere; and a town of 25,000 has a few people who describe the back country as "the provinces."

The fair way to classify people, whether by birth, piety, wealth or brains, is the way that makes you see one of the top-notchers.

The ideal policeman is one who catches all law violators and never is impudently enough to interfere if you break a little law.

It seems to be a rule. The more expensive the kitchen equipment, the more tin cans in the garbage receptacle.

Some photographers now are "temperamental artists," but others still make portraits that resemble the sitter.

Popular music promotes culture. It's a rare number that doesn't give you fragments from at least five classics.

Correct this sentence: "Oh, my dear," said the bride of 23 to her 64-year-old Santa Claus, "I love you madly."

Another good thing about horseshoe pitching is that nobody bothers you the game when you wish to dance.

Hunting in an automobile has advantages. Even a tenderfoot will know it isn't a deer if it's driving a car.

Noah was the unluckiest of men. The best chance in history to say "I told you so," and to say it to.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES AT OPENING OF ALBERTA PROV-INCIAL LEGISLATURE ON THURSDAY OF LAST WEEK

(By our special correspondent)

Before one of the most brilliant gatherings in the history of the province, to which flowers, bright lights, military dress and beautiful gowns lent their colour, His Honour Lieutenant-Governor Egbert on Thursday afternoon at 3 p. m. on January 30th formally opened the provincial legislature.

The full ceremony of the occasion was observed with all its colorful and impressive details. An hour before the hour the main floor of the Parliament Building was crowded with people eager for a glimpse of the spectacle. Hundreds lined the roadway or watched from the balconies of the Building. At a few minutes before three a large detachment of the Canadian Officers Training Corps marched to its post in front of the entrance—the official guard of honour. At ten minutes of three the first round of the salute thundered out. His Honour was given fifteen guns, the official salute for the Lieutenant-Governor. A splendid detachment of the Alberta Provincial Police took its station at the doorway.

Promptly on the hour the car of His Honour appeared. Accompanied by a flashing troop of Dragoons the car drove to the steps. The Lieutenant-Governor resplendent in his Windsor uniform and plumed hat of black and gold paused for a moment to acknowledge the Royal Salute and accompanied by his military aides, mounted the steps and entered the building.

In a few moments the legislative chamber which was crowded with the members and privileged guests was called to attention by the Sergeant-at-Arms: "His Honour, the Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta." The crowd rose to its feet and in impressive silence His Honour appeared. With his military aides he paced the length of the House, greeted Speaker Johnston and assumed the speaking dais. From there he read in clear firm tones the speech from the Throne reviewing lightly the past year and hinting at the legislation expected in this session.

At the conclusion he left the room and the speaker resumed his chair. A. L. Saunders, Stettler and George McLachlan, Pembina, moved the adoption of the speech and the House immediately adjourned until the next day.

Ten was served on the second floor of the building, where political friends and foes, soldiers and statesmen, ministers and private members greeted one another and renewed old friendships and acquaintances.

In the evening His Honour and Mrs. Egbert received the legislators, their wives, and friends at Government House. This is the most important social event of the year, and event to which all Edmonton looks forward.

Agair military dress and the colour and grace of the House, the beautiful house some, chatting, some dancing, a few in earnest conversation on some point of the province affairs. Not the least important feature of this brilliant annual event is the opportunity it affords the public of the province to meet the U. F. A. and out-of-town members whose popularity at

BOLD POLICY IS CALLED FOR
ON HIGHWAYS—CONSERVATIVE
LEADER IN ALBERTA
URGES KEEPING PACE WITH GROWING DEMAND

Edmonton, Feb. 4.—Advocating a "bold, courageous highways policy" which would call for a highways act providing for the expenditure of $25,000,000 on roads in the province in the next five years, this to be met by a sinking fund from gasoline and automobile license revenues, D. M. Duggan, in his maiden speech in the debate on the throne speech in the Alberta legislature on Tuesday afternoon, urged strongly upon the government the need for keeping pace with the growing demand for "more and better highways."

Other high-lights in Mr. Duggan's address were:

Advocacy of the abolition of the supplementary revenue tax, which last year brought $1,166,000 into provincial coffers, a policy of education in any plan for public ownership and development of power resources; a demand for a report on the activities of the Alberta Dairy Pool and the reason why public funds were used to create this pool; a passing reference to certain features of the resource agreement not in the best interests of the people of the province with a warning against the dangers which accompany the inheritance of wealth, and a suggestion that the Old Age Pensions Act be widened to take care of cases now not provided for, and also, insistence that the obligation for old age pensions is Dominion, and not provincial.

Dealing with the development of the capital is very marked. It is obvious that the legislators of this government have the capacity for winning friends and admirers as well as serving their province in the House.

Notes On The Speech From The Throne

The Speech from the throne is the usual conventional document but this year it forecasts a program of more than ordinary interest.

The big question and the first that will be legislated on is the transfer of Natural Resources. The agreement has been completed but ratification is now necessary. Simultaneous legislation by the provincial and federal parliaments followed by an Act of the British Parliament will be required. Advance drafts of the Bill were sent out some time before the session opened to give the members ample time for consideration. Nothing more than formal opposition, if that, is expected.

Alberta may congratulate herself on the sale of the Northern Railway. Not only is the province relieved of their care but the new operators promise extensions to improve transportation in the districts served.

The serious question of unemployment has to be considered. This problem is Dominion wide and so mixed with issues in economic and immigration that Alberta cannot solve it alone. The government has been negotiating with federal and municipal authorities in an effort to place the responsibility. Incidentally, a meeting of the Mayors of many cities is now being held in Winnipeg to talk ways and means. Considering these facts, it is likely that the legislature will do no more than define its policy on relief for the unemployed.

The Speech does not mention redistribution but a committee is at work already. If an election is called this spring a redistribution measure will have to be passed during the session.

No mention is made of legislation to regulate brokers and stock exchanges. However, the House will certainly take action to control conditions now rocking the financial world of Alberta and Canada. This problem requires co-operation with the other provinces in Canada but if no act is passed, a statement of policy will probably be made.

The passage of the program is the School Bill. It will be remembered that the bill was introduced experimentally last session and that it raised considerable controversy. Mr. Baker will now bring in a new draft more in accord with public opinion hoping to have better luck. The U. F. A. has again endorsed the bill but the trustees last year were almost unanimously against any change. An interesting time is expected by all.

It would appear, then, that this fourth session of the sixth legislature of Alberta, is a momentous one and that our representatives will well earn their indemnities.

Election rumours are flying about the streets of the capital and the liberals have already begun local organization. The Tories have met in Provincial Convention and have a new leader: D. M. Duggan in succession to Mr. McGillivray. David M. Duggan came to Alberta from Wales in 1905. Since then he has engaged successfully in financial affairs. He was Mayor of Edmonton for three years and has been M. L. A. for Edmonton since 1926. In the house he has won a reputation as a financial critic. He has gained respect, too, for his criticism in no carping style but with a spirit of helpfulness. He should bring strength to his party.

The government is in a most favourable position. Mr. Brownlee carries two feathers in his hat: the sale of the Northern Railway and the transfer of Natural Resources, in addition to a respectable record of worth achievement. Some date in June will probably be chosen. Newspaper rumour suggest that additional seats will be carved out. The fast-growing Peace River district deserves more representation. It is less likely that Calgary and Edmonton may each gain an additional seat.

ARE SEEKING WAY TO MEET
FRENCH THEORY—POWERS
ARE CONSIDERING COUNTER PROPOSALS AS TO NAVAL MEASUREMENT

London, Feb. 3.—Counter proposals to the French compromise theory on measurement of naval armaments may be laid before the naval conference.

Conversations between the British, United States and French delegates were proceeding this afternoon, the United States delegation meeting first the British and then the French. It is not thought, however, that enough agreement would be reached to permit the formulation of counter proposals by tomorrow, when the conference in committee of the whole is to commence consideration of the French compromise.

Talk among the delegates is that the French compromise between the rival methods of reduction — by global tonnage or by categories of vessels — is as wide in scope as to embrace practically the whole of the conference agenda. The discussion on it, therefore, is likely to be protracted.

Reports About Dominions "Absurd"

London, Feb. 1.—(By Gen. Hamilton, Can Press Staff Correspondent) — Sensational rumors of quarrels among delegates from the British Commonwealth to the naval conference are creating amusement among the delegates themselves. In both Canadian and Australian circles the reports are dismissed as absurd.

The point arose of dominion representation on the proposed second committee to discuss the modified French compromise. The dominions preferred consideration by a more elastic committee, which, as it is really a committee of the whole conference, permits direct representation of each dominion.

The Australians, it is understood, submitted that while they have no objection to being represented by a delegate from some other dominion as a matter of occasional convenience, they did not wish to be bound by such representation as a matter of principle.

The discussions, it is emphasized, however, were conducted with the best of feeling on all sides.

highways, Mr. Duggan congratulated the government on its announced decision to make larger expenditures on highways, but urged some plan that would ensure continuity of policy.

The year ending March 31, 1929, brought $3,431,529 into the coffers of the province from motor licenses and gasoline tax. Mr. Duggan pointed out. "The estimated amount for the year ending March 30, 1930, is $3,643,000 and the total number of licenses issued in 1929 was 97,563 against 87,211 in 1928. These figures disclose that the demand for highways is increasing and the revenue obtained from traffic fully warrants the adoption of a bold, courageous highways program."

"I strongly urge the passing of a highways act in which the government will be authorized to borrow $25,000,000 over a period of five years, setting up a sinking fund with the revenues obtained from motor licenses and gasoline tax, so that the interest charges can be met and the entire issue retired at the expiration of the lifetime of the roads constructed, without tapping other sources of revenue."

Refers to Resources

The Conservative leader referred briefly to the death of Hon. R. C. Brett and expressed regret at the resignation of A. McCreary as provincial Conservative leader. In taking over the leadership Mr. Duggan reaffirmed his belief that provincial legislation should be conducted without regard to party considerations, but the responsibility for such a development rested, he insisted, with the dominant party and such co-operation was impossible until the claims of urban centres for proper representation were met.

He congratulated the government and Premier Brownlee on the resources transfer, declaring the progress made was very pleasing to the Conservative party which had all along advocated return of the resources. "There are some features of the agreement which in my opinion are not in the best interests of the people of this province," he added, "and there are also dangers which accompany the inheritance of wealth. The question of creating adequate machinery for the administration of this new estate is a difficult task. I hope to deal with these matters on some further occasion."

JURY'S FINDING CONCERNING
DEATH AFTER OPERATION

Edmonton, Feb. 3.—That Mrs. Ruth Olsen, age 27, died at the General hospital on January 29 as a result of a side-towel, measuring 16 by 26 inches, being left in her body following an operation performed on January 24 in the hospital, was the finding of a coroner's jury which inquired into the death on Saturday.

THE LANGUAGE OF THE FUTURE

Since the war the English language has taken a definite lead over all its competitors in world-wide communication. There was a time when Latin held a position of undisputed supremacy as the language of diplomacy, of scholarship, and of science. French superseded Latin, and retained its place till the problems created by the war brought the representatives of many nations together in a rapid succession of conferences, which show no signs of diminishing in number or frequency. These conferences, and the results arising therefrom, have proven to be a compelling demonstration of the predominance, and widespread interests of English-speaking peoples all over the world. Trade and commerce have carried the language to the ends of the earth, and traders of every race and color must understand at least a smattering of our tongue in order to conduct their business.

The need for a universal language has long been felt, and ingenious systems, like Esperanto, are kept alive by a comparatively small number of enthusiastic advocates. But there is as much difference between a manufactured language and a living, pulsating one, as there is between a robot and an intelligent man. Living language embodies the very soul of the race which evolved it, and no manufactured system can ever be anything more than a coldly mechanical, lacking any force of vitality, it will eventually peter out ingenuously, like the mule, without pride of ancestry or hope of posterity.

The language of the future will be one of the great living languages, and close observers, many of them belonging to non-English-speaking countries, believe that English is destined to become the universal tongue, not alone because of its excellence and suitability, but because it is the common language of a group of nations of such power, prestige and influence that its recognition and adoption as a world language would be a logical step in the evolution of human affairs.

EDUCATION FOR COMMERCE

When Napoleon spoke contemptuously of the English as "a nation of shopkeepers," he expressed not his own attitude toward commerce,

Robin Hood FLOUR

Preferred by Discriminating Housewives

but also voiced the opinion of a large section of Englishmen who looked down on trade as something beneath the dignity of a gentleman.

This traditional estimate of trade and traders has undergone a gradual change. But it required the shocks and catastrophes of the great war to destroy the vestiges of a nonsensical notion.

How greatly things have changed in the past few years may be gathered from the fact that the Head-masters' conference at Eton, at Eton no less, recently deliberated the question of the establishment of departments of commerce in the great public schools of England.

On this occasion, amongst the pillars of polite learning and the classical tradition, F. W. Goodenough, an apostle of salesmanship, presented the positive claims of commerce to a place of prominence in the curricula of the schools to which were entrusted the duty of preparing the young men of the country for the responsibilities of practical life.

Education for commerce must be as definite and thorough as education for the professions and the diplomatic and civil services.

"Commerce," said Mr. Goodenough, "is the great game, the joyous adventure, the fight, the risk, the service to the community, that calls for leadership, organization, judgment, skill, energy and devotion to principles and to duty." Economic experts in Great Britain attribute no small measure of the industrial distress to the lack of organization, and the failure of so many business men to adopt modern methods in the conduct of their affairs.

Modern business is the product of applied science, not only in the means of production, but also in the technique of administration, and these conditions make successful industry and commerce dependent on the specialized knowledge and skill which education alone can supply.

WHAT BYRD IS UP AGAINST

The ordinary map fails to give one a true perspective on geography. Many people, for example, are unable to understand just why Commander Byrd's aerial explorations on the Antarctic continent should be such prodigious undertakings.

It will help you to grasp the extent of Byrd's job if you realize that the Antarctic continent is half again as large as the whole of Canada.

Consider, on top of that, that the whole area is entirely uninhabited and covered with ice and snow, crisscrossed by high mountains and swept by terrific storms.

In that way you can see why Byrd's job is so tremendous.

Suppose that Canada were a free-bound, uninhabited wilderness, and that some daring aviator were to try to fly from Vancouver to a point in Western Saskatchewan, under the necessity of getting back without landing anywhere en route. Then you can realize what Byrd is up against.

INCREASED INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS ALL OVER PROVINCE IS STRESSED

Calgary, Feb. 4.—A strong appeal for increased inspection of schools throughout the province was made during the discussion following an address on "Supervision of Schools," given by F. G. Buchanan, assistant superintendent of Calgary schools, at the opening session of the annual convention of the Alberta School Trustees Association Tuesday morning.

A number of delegates pointed out that rural schools were suffering as a result of the size of the territory an inspector is expected to cover, and that a closer and more frequent supervision would be to the advantage of both teachers and pupils.

Mr. Buchanan, in his address, expressed the opinion that this situation would be remedied to a great extent when the proposed "Baker School Act" becomes operative, and outlined a number of advantages of the new system. The discussion which followed the address indicated that the convention is not unanimous in favor of the proposal, but a number of delegates expressed the opinion that less opposition will be voiced to the measure than was the case at the Lethbridge convention last year.

A total of 650 delegates had registered at noon on Tuesday and it was expected that a few more would arrive during the afternoon. Following the invocation delivered by Rev. J. E. Todd, of Central United Church, the trustees were welcomed to the city by Mayor Andy Davison, and the business session of the convention opened with the presentation of the report of the secretary, Mrs. A. H. Rogers of Fort Saskatchewan and the presidential

GOLDEN WEST

Where the breezes softly sigh
Laden with perfume as they pass by;
Where dim paths lure me on
To scented woods far beyond;
Where the blue bird builds her nest,
That's my glorious golden West.

Where the sparkling brooklet sings
To the speckled trout it brings;
Where the pine trees ever green,
And the poplars silver sheen
Wake within my soul a song;
Golden West for thee I long.

HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION—THE TODDLER

Neglect, or comparative neglect, has been the lot of the child after he has been weaned when he is no longer so entirely dependent upon his mother. The need for special care of the infant is generally recognized, but what is not so universally understood is that the pre-school years of life are all important in laying foundations for the good health habits which must be established if adult health is to be attained.

After weaning, the child cannot become one of the family in the sense that he can eat the ordinary family diet. The feeding of the child at this time requires special care, and the mother needs to give time to the proper selection and preparation of the young child's food. There is, beyond doubt, a close relationship between physical fitness and proper food. Eating habits are established during the second and third year of life. It therefore stands to reason that these years are the most important in starting and developing desirable habits in connection with the use of foods.

Young children suffer considerably from colds, tonsillitis, bronchitis, pneumonia, and other diseases of the respiratory tract. These diseases take a heavy toll of young lives each year and, naturally, it is a matter of great importance to know the reason for this if the condition is to be prevented. In searching for an explanation, we find a condition that apparently is significant and to which attention should be drawn. Mothers, as a result of the knowledge they have acquired concerning the care of the infant and the value of fresh air and sunshine, now put their babies out of doors a great deal. After the first year, however, this becomes difficult because the young child requires constant supervision unless he can be left in a place that is absolutely safe. As a result, the child is kept indoors, possibly going out with the mother when she goes shopping, which means that most of the time is spent in stores. Thus, the child does not get the fresh air which he requires and this lack of fresh air is one reason why young children suffer so frequently from diseases of the respiratory tract.

The health of the young child demands fresh air. It may require considerable planning to make sure that he gets it, but the effort is well worth while.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

CLAIMS HE WAS SHOT BY U. S. INSPECTORS

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 3.—A Canadian citizen suffering from bullet wounds at the Hotel Dieu, at Windsor, Ont., accused United States customs border patrol inspectors of firing on him as he was making for the Canadian shore across the ice of the Detroit River early today.

The wounded man is Arthur Laframboise, of Lasalle, Ont. He said he was fired upon when going away from the officers who approached as he and a friend were working to free a sledload of liquor from the ice off the Fighting Island, on the Canadian side.

Laframboise said he had driven his automobile out on the ice, but when the officers approached he fled on foot.

At the United States patrol base at Detroit it was denied that any shooting had been reported by inspectors working along the river.

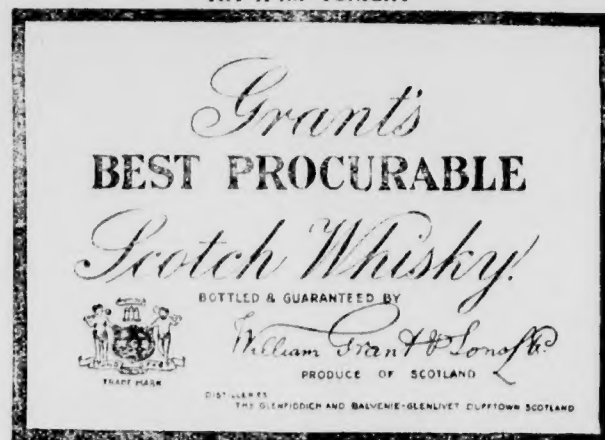

A prominent clergyman says doctrine changes to meet the needs of the times. This is especially true of the Monroe doctrine.

A college professor says crime isn't news. Neither is the opinion of a college professor, but people like to read such things.

Freedom is that inalienable right people win just before they begin subjugating their weak neighbors.

The Soviet may put a better face on things, after all. It has granted a concession to a razor factory.

At an early hour Sunday morning, the 26th of January in Calgary Hospital, occurred the death of Willard Irish, from a paralytic stroke. Mr. Irish was an old timer of Granum district, having helped the government some forty years ago to survey parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan. About 36 years ago he took up farming in the Porcupine Hills, west of Granum, where he has resided ever since until about two years ago when, being unable to work and manage the farm he sold his land to the McDougall Bros., and moved to Calgary. Mr. Irish was born in Ontario on Jan. 18th, 1856, being 74 years of age, at the time of his death. He was buried in Burnsland Cemetery, Calgary, Jan. 28th. One sister survives him, an aged lady living in Winnipeg.

On Monday evening last Mr. and Mrs. C. Wells entertained at a delicious bridge dinner at their cozy home. The table decorations carried out the Valentine motif, tall red tapers in silver holders, red crepe paper nut baskets, and quaint cupid heart place cards, which later did duty for tally cards in the bridge games that followed the lovely dinner. Mrs. Easton was the fortunate winner of high score, thereby capturing the ladies' first prize, while Mr. Carswell was the envied gentleman winning first honor. After an informal musical program the guests, who included Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Carswell, Mr. and Mrs. S. Peckles, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Easton departed for their respective homes, voting it the best time ever, and lauding Mr. and Mrs. Wells as ideal entertainers.

The "Rose" Tea held on Wednesday, the 29th of January at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Dimm was an event that excited widespread interest. The roses made by Mrs. Dimm's deft fingers and showing shades of color only less beautiful than real American Beauties, were arranged in profusion about the reception and the tea-rooms. Most alluring salads and cakes with tea and coffee were served by the hostess and those who assisted her in this event. And the attendance was very large, guests from considerable distances being present. Mrs. Dimm promoted this tea to help the funds of the United Church School, and the proceeds were, in total about $27.00. The ladies assisting Mrs. Dimm in connection with the tea were: Mesdames J. Clarke, MacGregor, J. Blair, W. A. Blair, R. W. Jell, and Miss Marlette.

The Granum Trail Rangers crossed sticks with the Stavelly School Team last Friday afternoon at Granum, and though old "Sol" had warmed up the north end of the rink a good game resulted. Stavelly came down in charge of Rev. J. W. Hall, and presented some pretty shifty players, one of whom particularly, a stocky little defense star, barely twelve years old from the well-known Bouzyan family. But the Granum Trail Rangers were in their stride, and back-checked Stavelly into submission. With their superior speed and stick-handling they took lots of chances with Stavelly and should have had a few more goals but for a great display of goal-keeping by the Stavelly guardian. The score was 3-1, the Stavelly goalie being cleanly beaten by Art, W. Field, and Russell. Each of these fellows bored in and gave him no chance to save. All the local

Over twenty young people, with young men in the majority, attended the Young Peoples' Society meeting on Monday evening in the United Church Hall. Miss Mae Henker acted as Chairman in the unavoidable absence of the President, Miss Smith. Tryphena Hill acted as secretary. The devotional program was conducted by the Convener for the night, Fenton Blair. Mary Dimm and Freda Sherman contributed a vocal duet with Mrs. Dimm as accompanist, while Emma Lantinga presided at the organ for the service. Among those taking part in the service were: Miss Davis, Miss Brown, Mary Dimm, Vera Yorgason and Fenton Blair. The prize novelty for attendance for the evening was presented to Mr. Chas. Field, and as he opened the envelope there was quite a stir. There were games after the other program, and the meeting adjourned at nine to meet again next Monday at seven-thirty. Next meeting will be a Literary Meeting with Miss Helen Sandgathe as Convener. The novelty prize (to be presented to someone present yet unknown) is being donated this week by Mrs. MacGregor.

WORLD'S GRAIN EXHIBITION AND CONFERENCE

Development of the work of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference to be held in Regina in 1932 has made it necessary for the staff to move from the Stadium on the Regina Exhibition Grounds to larger offices. These have been secured over the Imperial Bank at the corner of Eleventh Avenue and South Street, at which place the business is now being conducted. The Announcement and Prize List of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference will be ready for distribution some time in February. The Prize List consists of 55 classes distributed for wheat, oats, barley, corn, rye, buckwheat, rice, millet, field peas, field beans, soy beans, flax, hemp, alfalfa, clover, grasses, sunflower, field roots and vegetables — $200,000.00 in cash prizes.

There are six classes in the wheat section: Hard Red Spring, Hard Red Winter, Soft Red Winter, White Winter, Durum and a special class for ten bushels of Hard Red Spring Wheat. In each of the first four classes the prizes total $15,000. There are fifty prizes in each class the first being $2,500 graded down to $50, for the fiftieth prize. In the Durum class the prizes total $10,000, the first being $1,500 graded down to $29 for the fiftieth prize—fifty prizes in each class. Each exhibit must bear variety name and consist of 50 pounds.

Each Exhibitor may make entry in as many classes as desired but not more than one entry in any one class. There is no restriction respecting the year in which the exhibit is grown.

The year 1932 seems to be quite a long way off but nevertheless now is the time for the prospective exhibitor to begin to make preparation if Saskatchewan is to make a good showing.
